Since Friday, as soon as restored telegraphic communication rendered it safe for trains to work on the single track, Superintendent Russell has labored with the utmost energy and diligence to remove the obstructions, and though nine or ten engines were wit his trains, they were of no use, and all pro-gress had to be made with the pick and hovel. Nearly 300 men in all were em-ployed in the work, and many of them suffered seriously from frozen hands and feet.

This relic of the past is being circulated as a slur upon the General. We hope the day will soon pass when it will be thought a day will soon pass when it will be thought a slur upon any lady or gentleman to have been connected with the dramatic profession. We have long known that a merchant in in this city has a play bill of a Boston performance anterior to the above, in which Mr. and Mrs. Banks are announced to dance a sailor's bornpipe. We cannot see wherein lies the disgrace of this profession. If God lies the disgrace of time product talent, he gives a man or a woman dramatic talent, he certainly means it to be used, and its use is as honorable as the exercise of any other LEWTON & SHEPHERD, Attys for Petrs, heaven bestowed power. If Gen. Banks has no blacker blemishes on his name and fame than those made by his dramatic and terpsicherean career, he will do well in life and have a clearer record than most men.

While it is true that neither the stage nor

It is the present, not the past, that should be considered in estimating a man. Woolen Manufacturing Co.

A MONG the enterprises in our State richly deserved. Ing ancouragement and patronage is that of the Columbus Woolen Manufacturing Company. This Company was organized in 1851, when a large and substantial brick manufactory was errested at the foot of Mound Street, just across the canal bridge. The capital stock was at first $20,000. It has been gradually increased, and is at present $73,000.

For the last five or six years the Manufacturing Company has been, as it is now, in a flourishing and proserous condition. Its business has been extended; its facilities enlarged; its credit placed upon a fam basis, and its manufactured goods are in constant demand and meet with a ready sale. For this prosperous and increased business in the Manufactory the Company and the public are mainly indeuted to J. P. Bruck. Soc. the Secretary and Treasurer of the Company, who, having had the general oversight of its affairs, has or a sged them will singuist fidelity, prudence and regacity.

To give storied idea of the amount of business done in the Manufactory, it uses up anyunity about 190,000 pounds of raw wool, and makes 160,000 yards of cloth annually. The goods manufactured are purely of well, and consist principally of plain and fancy castineres, doeskins, satinets, plain and plaid finnels, blankets and stocking yarus. These are sold at wholessale er retail at the office in the Manufactory and stocking yarus. These are sold at wholessale er retail at the office in the Manufactory including 1,300 spindles and 22 power looms, mining duity. The number of employees is high-six, about one-half of whom are females. The wool used is principally procured in Ohio, assue is brought from floitanabut none from the East. The enterprise is, in all respects, striedly a western one.

As such, and especially as a bome enterprise, he calmities of its goods are superior for wear and durability to those manufactured notes and spirity in the certification of the production of shagley. So thought and so judged the committee on manufactured wooles g
